

Coaching Biodiesel Analytics

The production of biodiesel differs fundamentally from that of fossil fuels. To ensure the quality of biodiesel, the Association Quality Management Biodiesel (AGQM) was founded in 1999. A quality management system was created in which requirements for transport, production, and storage as well as corresponding control measures were defined. To support you in optimizing known methods or implementing new ones in your laboratory, AGQM offers special laboratory coaching together with ASG Analytik-Service AG.

Who is the Coaching for?

The coaching is aimed at all biodiesel producers and trading companies that operate their own laboratory and would like to optimize their performance in this area. Non-members can also take advantage of this service.

The Coaching

A one-day coaching is offered. The following services can be offered by arrangement:

- Theoretical training in one or two test methods (e.g., when implementing a new method or changing versions)
- Practical implementation including evaluation of the selected test methods (sample material can be provided or own samples can be used)
- Information on quality assurance (e.g., use of QC materials, quality control charts)
- Troubleshooting
- If required, sending of a comparison sample, which is analyzed in advance by the customer, and subsequent discussion of the results on site, including suggestions for improvement and/or troubleshooting

The coaching can take place on site in the customer's laboratory or, if required, in the well-equipped laboratories and facilities of ASG AG.

In advance of planning the coaching, prior consultation is mandatory in order to be able to prepare an individual offer. If required, the coaching can also be extended to several days.

Report and Certificate

Afterwards, the customer receives the theoretical training documents, certificates of participation and a final report.

Costs

The daily flat rate for coaching for up to 4 participants is at least € 2,499.00 (one day à 8 hours). For each additional participant, the daily flat rate is increased by € 799.00. Participation of more than 8 persons is not expedient for the implementation of the coaching. All prices are exclusive of 19% VAT if applicable.

Important: Depending on the effort involved and the customer's wishes, further cost items may be added to the above-mentioned daily flat rate. Any travel costs incurred are to be paid additionally by the customers. We will be pleased to prepare an individual offer after an informative meeting.

Request your coaching offer today.

Contact Person

Katharina Friedrich

E-mail: katharina.friedrich@agqm-biodiesel.de

Phone: +49 30 72625981